HUMAN RIGHTS DAY

Human Rights Day is observed every year on December 10th—the day the United Nations General Assembly adopted, in 1948, the Universal Declaration of Human Rights. This year, Human Rights Day kicks off a yearlong campaign to mark the upcoming 70th anniversary of this milestone document. The Universal Declaration of Human Rights proclaims the inalienable rights which everyone is inherently entitled to as a human being, regardless of race, color, religion, sex, language, political or other opinion, national or social origin, property, birth or other status. It is the most translated document in the world, available in more than 500 languages.

The San Francisco Human Rights Commission advocates for human rights issues and enforces non-discrimination laws as a municipal enforcement agency in the City and County of San Francisco. For nearly 50 years, HRC has grown in response to San Francisco’s mandate to address the causes of and problems resulting from prejudice, intolerance, bigotry and discrimination.

The United Nations Association of the United States of America is a membership organization dedicated to inform, inspire, and mobilize the American people to support the ideals and vital work of the United Nations. For 70 years, UNA-USA has worked to accomplish its mission through its national network of Chapters, youth engagement, advocacy efforts, education programs, and public events.
